Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 22 and 23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Foerster et al. (USPN 5,902,310).

In response to claims 22 and 23, Foerster et al. discloses a surgical staple comprising: a back and two forwardly pointing legs (73, 74), wherein the back of the staple has a rearward extension (54) rupturably joined (figure 8) to allow the back of the staple (12) to be restrained against movement while the legs (73, 74) are bent towards one another (figures 6-7).

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 12-21 and 24-29 are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance of claims 12-21: The art of record considered as a whole, alone or in combination, neither anticipates nor renders obvious a surgical stapling device comprising an actuator slidable forwardly within a housing for driving a surgical staple towards a free end of the housing and means for restraining a rearward extension on the back of the surgical staple against forward movement beyond a predetermined point, such that further forward movement of the actuator bends the staple to bring free ends of the towards one another to close the staple.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance of claims 24-26: The art of record considered as a whole, alone or in combination, neither anticipates nor renders obvious a surgical stapling device comprising a housing adapted to slidably receiving a surgical staple and to drive the staple forwardly to a predetermined position, the housing restraining a rearward extension of the surgical staple at the predetermined position such that further forward movement is effective to bend the staple and release the staple from the rearward extension.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance of claims 27-29: The art of record considered as a whole, alone or in combination, neither anticipates nor renders obvious a method of advancing an actuator forwardly through a housing to advance a staple to a predetermined position, wherein further forward advancement of the staple is effective to bend the staple and release the staple from a rearward extension of the staple.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Refer to attachment for notice of references cited and recommended for consideration based on their disclosure of limitations of the claimed invention.
